PRE-K

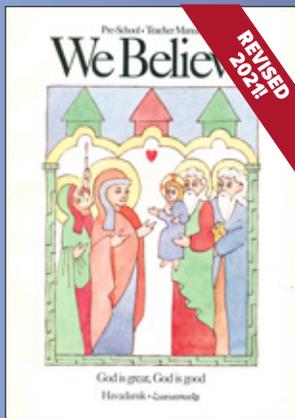

(ages 3-4)

Completely revised and updated, the theme of We Believe Pre-School comes from a very popular, simple children's prayer, one that children will be using regularly at snack-time during the year. It is also the year's basic lesson. Each Sunday, the church's littlest faithful will be hearing about the wonder of God's good creation and the glory of His gifts.

In the joy of others and God's beautiful world, these little ones, God's favorites, will feel His presence and enjoy their faith through the fun and laughter of the pre-school classroom. And parents will be kept well-informed with parent cards, now available in an online format to be sent home weekly.

Theme: God is great, God is good.

GRADE ONE

God and Me Together

Brand new for 2010, God and Me Together focuses on the simple, happy facts of faith: the life and teachings of Jesus, the power of the Holy Spirit, the people of the Bible, the celebration of holy days and holidays, and the life of the community as it lives out its faith in worship and joy together. Grade One consists of twenty-eight full-color individual newsletter-style lessons, chock-full of stories, photos, illustrations, activities, and hymns. A special feature is My Badarak Book, a palm-sized booklet about our Divine Liturgy that the class will put together. This year's curriculum uses the storybook Jesus: Bible Stories for Children from which children were read to last year. They now each get a copy of their own to follow along with and at the end of the year it is theirs to take home.

GRADE TWO Circles of Faith

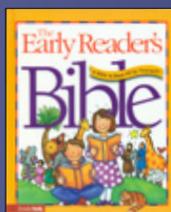

Through story, song, puzzles, and lots of crafts “handmade with love,” the newly updated and revised Second Grade offers students the “circles” of faith that connect them through Jesus to a loving God and a nurturing Church. Four Units anchor their journey. Circles of Faith explores the sophisticated concepts of the Holy Trinity and the Holy Church. Jesus and Me reviews prayer as the all-important path to knowing our Lord, whether at home or in church, in good times and bad, knowing that trust and thankfulness will prevail. Being the Church examines the idea of becoming together what we cannot be alone. Nourished with the forgiveness and love embodied in the Eucharist, Sunday extends into a week of Christ-centered living. Celebrating Jesus: The Church Year demonstrates that Jesus and all the events and people connected with his ongoing story are celebrated in the seasons of the Church. Children learn facts and meaning so that feast day traditions might become vehicles to deeper faith. Formatted as twenty-eight full-color individual newsletter lessons.

The Person and The Way: Jesus Christ: A People and A Way: The Armenian Church

By first exploring the age-appropriate faith experience and feelings of the learner, and then applying pertinent information (basic Armenian Christian literacy), the overall goal of Grade Five We Believe (and all new curriculum texts) is to "To bring the learner into a living relationship with Jesus Christ, within the Church - the Body of Christ - through the Holy Tradition of the Armenian Church." Grade Six Living the Good Life Holy People, Holy Time

Living the Good Life begins to pull together what children already know to help them shape deeper, larger understandings. With a special focus on Holy Tradition and the foundations of our faith (Scripture, liturgy, canons, the lives of saints, the sacraments), moving through the seasons of the church year (holy times) and the special centers of the Armenian Church (holy places), students discover how they take their faith from the abstraction of “book learning” to everyday living. The curriculum also features a brief look at the history of the Armenian Church in America. The student text for these two sessions is The First Hundred Years: A Cartoon History of the Armenian Church in America.

Grade Seven Surprised By Joy: Discovering God

Middle schoolers have doubts and questions and a need to experience their faith in the context of real life. Organized in four units, the seventh grade curriculum is a journey of discovery that both answers and poses questions along the way. Looking At Life begins the conversation, discovering the heart-felt emotions in the Psalms, seeking connections between science and belief, and understanding spiritual gifts. Gift of a Promise: His Word and His Body examines the foundations of Christian faith — the life and teaching of Jesus and God’s self-revelation in Scripture. The Faith Journey outlines the path from the 1st century church through Armenia’s conversion, to our own experience as an ancient church in a new world. Finally, Plugged In surveys the worship, prayer and sacrament that keep us connected in Spirit-filled community. Featured in all lessons are themes relevant to today’s young teens along with traditions and faith vocabulary drawn from the life of the Armenian Church.

Grade Eight The Heart of the Matter Who Am I? What Do I Believe?

The core of the new Grade Eight is an experiential study of the Nicene Creed which is densely packed with doctrine and history. Each line provides an opportunity for students to learn some pertinent background and then delve into personal issues of faith, challenging them to answer the deepest of questions: What does it mean to me that God created the world? How did Jesus “save” me and why do I need saving? What is the church? What is life about and what happens next? A beginning unit on comparative religion surveys the three major Christian families as well as Judaism, Islam, Hinduism and Buddhism. Finally, students engage in a “summing up” of thought and content as well as plan and participate in a service project.

New Faith to New World Stories From the History of the Armenian Church

Hagop Nersoyan

A work of both scholarship and imagination, New Faith features 35 lives of important figures from the Armenian Church story. From Tigran the Great to St. Vartan Mamigonian, St. Gregory of Tatev to Archbishop Hovsep Sarajian, who was the first priest and then the first Primate of the Armenian Church in the U.S., these extraordinary individuals are icons of the equally extraordinary times during which they lived.

Originally written in 1963 as an upper grade Sunday School textbook by Dr. Hagop Nersoyan, the popular volume was subsequently revised by the author. Some stories were completely rewritten, while others meticulously redrafted to make them more accessible to a new generation of readers. After another series of later revisions by the Department, the 2009 edition includes bold, full-color illustrations by Kyle Harabedian and abbreviated versions of the scholarly introductions that opened each chapter.

Lord, Teach Us to Pray

Elise Antreassian

Prayer is how we get ourselves on God’s wavelength, how we “speak” with him. So of the thousands of languages in existence today, prayer is certainly the most important! It is in these conversations, in this mode of being, that salvation, eternity, and the fullest human life here and now are possible. A lifetime of prayer brings understanding, enlightenment, love, and peace beyond anything the human mind can process but which the heart and soul do indeed slowly begin to comprehend. If there is one skill we need to pass along to our teenagers for a successful adult life in the world God planned, created and over which he lovingly presides, it is how to pray!

Course comprises twelve 60-minute sessions that explore what prayer is, what Jesus says about prayer, prayer in the Bible, liturgical prayer, people of prayer, the Lord’s Prayer and prayer as a way of life. Age-appropriate activities and exercises.

When I Was Baptized

Illustrations by Anush Movsesian Avejic

An all new child-sized board book, with bilingual text and full page illustrations, describes in a few words what children experience when they are baptized: the joy they bring to their families just by being born, being immersed in water and blessed with holy oil; receiving Holy Communion; the celebration afterwards. The book makes an ideal baptismal gift, but is also again perfect for church pews, Sunday School classrooms, name days, birthdays, and Christmas.

ARMENIAN CHURCH CLASSICS SERIES

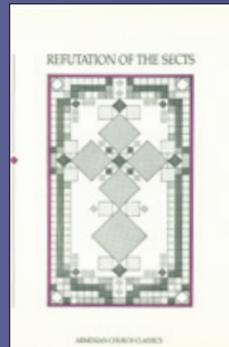

The history of the Armenian Church, the oldest national church in Christendom, is long and complex. Much of this rich church tradition derives from the writings of Armenian clerics from the Golden Age of Armenian literature to the present. These works contain the authentic voice of the Armenian Church; they have formed the popular memory of an entire people. As such, they should be read if the tradition they support is to be understood. Armenian Church Classics is the title of a series of publications that retells the great stories from the Armenian Christian past based on the actual works and writers of the early church.

The Teaching of Saint Gregory

Translation and commentary by Robert W. Thomson

The Teaching of Saint Gregory is part of the Armenian History by the unknown author known as Agat'angelos. The Teaching is presented as a sermon to the Armenian court giving the essential content of the Christian gospel. In its present form, however, it is a literary composition of the late-fifth century. Its great importance is that it was recognized by later generations as the core of Armenian Christian teaching. Professor Thomson has thoroughly revised his translation and commentary from its first publication in 1970.

Patriotism and Piety in Armenian Christianity The Early Panegyrics on Saint Gregory

Abraham Terian

Armenian Christianity manifests a unique blend of patriotism and piety. Beginning from the inception of Armenian letters at the turn of the fifth century, Professor Terian surveys that blend in ancient Armenian sources spanning a thousand years. He shows how the theme finds its fullest manifestation as a literary motif in the medieval panegyrics (praise literature) dedicated to St. Gregory the Illuminator. Also included are translations of selections of thirteen of these odes and panegyrics, as well as a complete translation of the long Panegyric of Yovhannes Erznkats'i.

Worship Traditions in Armenia and the Neighboring Christian East

Roberta Ervine, editor

The worship of the Armenians and their Christian neighbors—Byzantine, and East and West Syrian—conserved and transmitted through liturgy, remains a vital link to their heritage, and this collection provides the key to the heart of the Christian East. The voices captured in the pages of this book originate from a symposium held in honor of St Nersess Seminary's 40th anniversary, where scholars of Eastern liturgy shared the fruits of their work.

Macarius of Jerusalem Letter to the Armenians, AD 335

Abraham Terian, translator and commentary

Macarius, bishop of Jerusalem in the early fourth century, was commissioned by Emperor Constantine to oversee the construction of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher. While host to a large gathering of bishops (presumably for the dedication of the Constantinian edifice), Macarius draws on local tradition in his response to queries by the nascent Armenian Church regarding baptism and the Eucharist. His Letter to the Armenians, addressed to Vrt'anes, elder son and second successor to St. Gregory the Illuminator as head of the Armenian Church, reveals much about the nature of pre-Nicene Armenian Christianity and its affinities with East Syrian baptismal and eucharistic traditions thought to stand in need of reform. Surviving only in Armenian, Macarius' Letter is of great importance for the history of the early church in Armenia, when ritual observances had not yet been codified.

Come Back to Me: An Appeal to Repentance

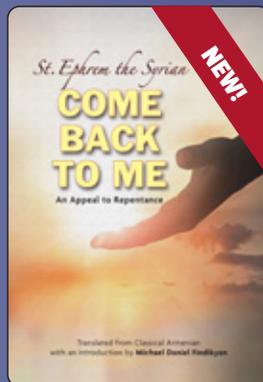

St. Ephrem the Syrian

Translated from Classical Armenian with an Introduction by Bishop Daniel Findikyan

Repentance, a subject central to the Gospel, is often presented as the bitter medicine that we sinful human beings are obliged to drink if we want to please God. This compelling work presents an alternative and refreshing view of human sinfulness and of Christ's unrelenting desire to heal us. Speaking directly to the reader, Jesus himself declares that all human anguish and confusion are the result of our refusal to fully embrace him. He urges us to turn away from destructive behaviors and fanciful diversions and to "come back" to him, the only true source of life.

A highly readable English translation with an introduction that places the work in an enlightening theological and historical context. In its captivating approach to the problem of sin and suffering and its surprisingly contemporary tone, Come Back to Me is important reading for all Christians today.

The Council of Chalcedon and The Armenian Church

Catholicos Karekin Sarkissian

A very informative survey of the Christological controversies of the early Church. With his own insightful analysis as well as primary sources, His Holiness charts the evolution of the two main Christological traditions known as the Antiochene and Alexandrian Schools. This development ultimately led to the Council of Chalcedon and the division of Orthodoxy into the Greater and Lesser Orthodox families (in the latter of which falls the Armenian Church). The Council had a huge impact on Armenian Church history particularly in the 5th through 12th centuries but well into the present. This volume is a 2006 reprint of the 1964 classic study of the same name and is one in the Karekin I Series which makes available the theological work of the late Catholicos.
