

Illustration by Siran Kaprielian

EXALTATION OF THE HOLY CROSS: Antasdan

"Come let us go out into the field." (Kings 20:11). With this invitation from Old Testament scripture, we respond and join the Lord in the field--the symbol of the world. Hoping to enjoy the bliss of heaven and the presence of God in our lives, we call to Him, the Almighty, and ask for His blessings upon everything which He has made, inviting heaven to earth, inviting Him to continually fill our lives, our every thought, our every deed, with His love.

The 96th Psalm beautifully expresses the requests of our hearts:

Say among the nations, "The Lord reigns!"
Yea, the world is established, it shall never be moved...

Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice;
LET THE FIELD EXULT and everything in it.

Then shall the trees of the wood sing for joy, before the Lord--for He comes...

Following the precepts of this vision of the world authored by inspired men of God, the Armenian Church celebrates the presence of God in the world with the special processional ceremony of Antasdan, a word which itself means "field" or "fields."

In this service the four corners of the world are blessed and sanctified. Through our prayers and hymns of praise we ask our Father to bless the food and fruitfulness of the earth. Also as caretakers of the "field" we ask for "divine protection" for the grounds of the earth, farms, gardens and the year's harvest and for monasteries, churches and all Christian leaders and people on the earth.

This service of Antasdan is frequently celebrated by many Christians, especially Armenian Christians. In the Armenian Church it is performed twenty-five times during the year; on the eve of the Feast of the Presentation of Christ to the Temple, on the Sundays from Palm Sunday to Pentecost, the second Sunday after Pentecost, Transfiguration, Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary and, finally, the Exaltation of the Holy Cross which is an elaboration of the basic service.

The Antasdan on the Feast of the Exaltation is the most ceremonious. A cross is placed on a tray and adorned with sweet basil and rosewater and is then carried in to the field, the world, manifesting Christ in our lives.

And we sing:

Amen: So be it.

Alleluia: Praise the Lord.

*From Bless, O Lord
by Fr. Garabed Kochakian.*

Bless, O Lord is a collection of services of blessing which appear for the first time in English and with a commentary. Readers will be delighted at this unique opportunity to finally understand some of the more popular and visible services such as the "antasdan," "the blessing of grapes," "the blessing of water," etc., as well as the lesser-known rites, among which are "the blessing of incense," "the blessing of a new mother," "the blessing of books," and even "the blessing of wedding garments." Perhaps the best explanation of the book's content and value can be derived from its opening inspirational message by the Patriarch of Jerusalem, His Beatitude Archbishop Torkom Manoogian:

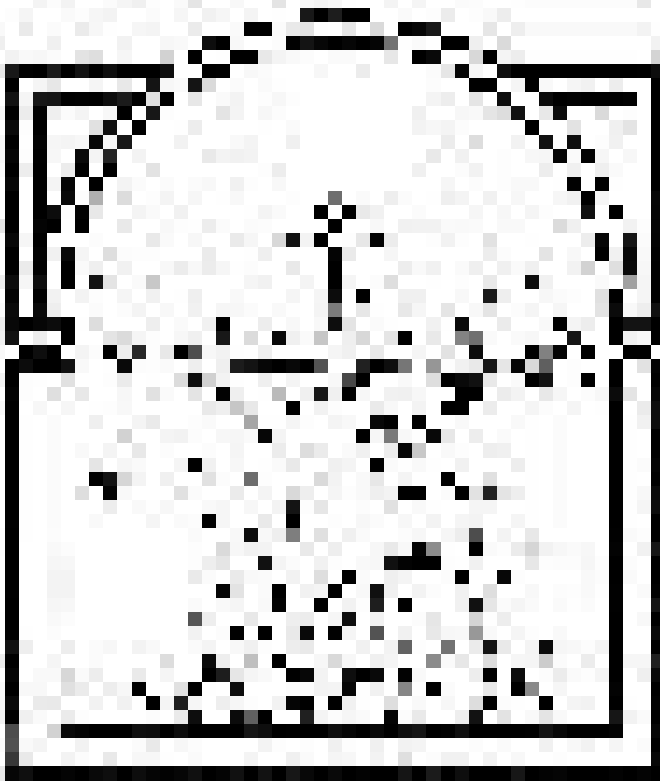

"The Armenian Church is one of Tradition! This is not, as it is sometimes mistakenly construed, a question of quaint customs and pageantry. On the contrary, it is a practice of God's presence in everyday life. Every feast day, every rite of the Church, every blessing service, imbues the day-to-day affairs of life with the Divine..."

Bless, O Lord is available through St. Vartan Bookstore for $8.95 plus $1.50 postage. Schools and parish organizations will receive a bulk discount and can be billed.

FIRST REGIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL PENTECOST CELEBRATION: "Hye In The Spirit"

On a beautiful Saturday, June 2, two hundred students and staff from the Sunday Schools of the Eastern Region (NY-NJ-PA) gathered at Sts. Sahag and Mesrob Armenian Church in Wynnewood, PA. for the first regional Pentecost celebration, sponsored by the DRE.

The day's theme was brightly marked on buttons especially made up for the day: "Hye in the Spirit." Elaborately decorated sheet cakes, each a work of art of flowers and sugar, also spelled out the day's theme. The two large

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records. It emphasizes that every detail matters and that consistency is key. The author notes that while the process may seem tedious, it is essential for long-term success.

In the second section, the author describes the various challenges encountered during the project. These include limited resources, tight deadlines, and unexpected obstacles. Despite these difficulties, the team remained focused and determined to complete the task.

The third part of the document outlines the strategies used to overcome these challenges. This involved careful planning, effective communication, and a willingness to adapt to changing circumstances. The author highlights the importance of teamwork and collaboration in achieving the goals.

Finally, the author reflects on the overall experience and the lessons learned. It is clear that while the journey was not without its hardships, the final outcome was well worth the effort. The author expresses gratitude to all those who supported the project throughout its duration.

The following section provides a detailed overview of the project's progress. It covers the initial stages, the development phase, and the final implementation. Each stage is described in detail, highlighting the key milestones and achievements.

The project began with a thorough analysis of the requirements and the identification of potential risks. This initial phase was crucial for setting a clear direction and ensuring that all stakeholders were aligned. The development phase followed, characterized by rigorous testing and iterative improvements.

As the project progressed, the team faced several significant challenges. These were addressed through a combination of creative problem-solving and resource allocation. The final implementation phase was marked by careful monitoring and evaluation to ensure that the project met its intended objectives.

The project's success is a testament to the team's dedication and hard work. It demonstrates that with the right approach and support, even the most complex tasks can be completed. The author looks forward to applying the lessons learned to future projects and continues to seek ways to improve the process.

The second part of the document focuses on the financial aspects of the project. It provides a detailed breakdown of the budget, including the costs of materials, labor, and overhead. The author also discusses the revenue generated and the overall financial performance.

The financial analysis shows that the project was completed within budget and generated a positive return on investment. This is a significant achievement, especially given the initial uncertainties and risks. The author concludes by noting that the financial success is a direct result of the team's efficient management and strategic decision-making.