

PAPER PLATE ANGEL

- Take a paper plate and cut it in half. Cut one of those halves in half again. You will now have three pieces: 1 half of the paper plate and 2x 1/4 of the paper plate.
- Paint the paper plate blue. Lightly paint over the rim of the plate so the texture along the edge remains, creating a rough-looking blue and white edge.
- Take a glitter glue stick and create a squiggly line along the outer edges of each piece. I did not have a glitter glue stick, so I used glue and glitter. That is definitely a viable option that will yield the same results. I just know how some feel about glitter. Allow to dry.
- Take a 2 inch hole punch and punch a circle out of the cream colored paper.
- On that circle, draw an oval (singing mouth) and closed eyes. Kids can easily be taught how to do these eyes and mouth.
